Senate Debates Exclusion Bill In Secret

JAPAN PLOT TO PREVENT PASSAGE, CHARGE

Measure Would Halt Plan To Colonize Hawaii, Its Author Says

WASHINGTON, April 14.—So delicate does the administration consider the proposed Japanese exclusion act that Senator Lodge, Republican, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, forced an executive session this afternoon when the Senate took up the bill and it was consequently debated behind closed doors.

Shortly before the Senate began consideration of the measure, Representative Johnson, Republican, of Washington, chairman of the House immigration committee, issued a statement charging that Japan was endeavoring to defeat the bill, not because of hurt pride, but because its passage would block her plans to colonize Hawaii.

Final Action in Open At the executive session, Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Republican of California, urged passage of the exclusion amendment. He denounced the proposal for admitting Japanese on a par with other aliens.

After forty minutes, the Senate agreed to take a final action on the provision in open session. Accordingly, the doors were opened and the public proceedings resumed. This action was demanded by both Senator Johnson and Senator Shortridge, Republicans of California.

Republican Senators Propose Drastic Policy

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Even more drastic restrictions of immigration than is proposed in either the Reed or Johnson bills now pending in Congress was decided upon today by a conference of Republican senators called to determine party policy.

A majority of the forty-one senators attending the conference voted in favor of a bill that would limit immigration to one per cent quotas, based upon the census of 1910. The Reed bill proposed two per cent on the 1920 census and the Johnson bill two per cent on the 1930 census.

Author of Bill Hits Back at Japan Official

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The immigration bill which passed the House carrying a Japanese exclusion amendment "is designed for the solidarity of the white race," Representative Johnson, Republican, of Washington, its author, declared today in a statement striking back at Japanese Ambassador Hanhara, who warned Secretary of State Hughes "that grave consequences" might follow the enactment of the exclusion provision.

"The bill is now a matter of legislation and neither threats, appeals nor activities of commercial organizations or foreign agents should affect the result," Johnson said.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire draft dodger, voluntarily relinquished and forfeited his rights of citizenship when he fled the country after his conviction by court-martial of evading the draft, according to a ruling made today by Raymond F. THAW JURY IS QUICKLY CHOSEN

Slayer's Divorced Wife Is Attempting to Prevent Granting Liberty

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Dr. Charles K. Mills, a noted specialist in mental diseases, one of a group of alienists who examined the mental state of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, was the only witness to testify this afternoon in the trial of Thaw to be sane, and with the conclusion of his testimony court was adjourned to reconvene tomorrow morning.

PHILADELPHIA, April 14.—Harry K. Thaw was an interested spectator in court this morning when a jury of twelve men—two of them colored—were chosen to try his sanity plea.

Known only to a few newspaper men, lawyers and court attaches, the slayer of Stanford White, guarded by two suave looking asylum guards, seated himself among the spectators in the front of the room when court opened at 10 o'clock and later moved his seat further back.

Crowd Storms Court When court adjourned at 12:15 o'clock Thaw, still in the company of his guards, went to luncheon with his counsel and the alienists who will testify in his behalf.

Over a thousand curious men and women stormed the outer door of the court in city hall before the case opened, but entrance was granted only to the witnesses, counsel, newspaper men and lawyers interested in the trial. Every seat in the courtroom was occupied.

Divorced Wife Arrives Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife, arrived in the city today from Atlantic City, but she did not appear at the jury selection. She became a party defendant when Judge Monaghan, the trial judge, granted her petition to oppose Thaw's release on behalf of her son, Russell William Thaw. (Turn to page 13, col. 7)

Sparks crossed the Pacific from Honolulu to the Philippines in 73 days without sighting land. His next port is Singapore. From there he will take a steamer or walk overland.

Shipping men regard his feat as little short of a miracle.

LOAF WEIGHT ACT IS HELD INVALID

Law Fixing Standard Sizes In Nebraska Set Aside By High Court

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The Nebraska law establishing a standard weight loaf of bread was declared invalid by the supreme court of the United States today.

The law was attacked by the Jay Burns Baking company, which held it violated the federal constitution by illegal confiscation of property and impairment of contract, and an "improper exercise of the state police powers."

Justices Brandeis and Holmes dissented, holding the law valid.

Resignation of Wood From Army Accepted

PARIS, April 14.—Lieutenant Osborne Wood, U. S. A., son of General Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippine islands, became plain "Mr. Wood" at 11 o'clock today when his resignation from the service became effective. There was a simple half hour ceremony at the United States embassy with only four persons present—Military Attache Colonel Bentley Mott, Military Attache Colonel John R. Thomas, Wood and the International News Service staff correspondent.

"Is it true you made $800,000 through speculations in Wall street?" Wood was asked. Wood smiled as he replied. "It may be true and it may not. But if I were broke, I would not be getting out of the army."

G. O. P. FIGHT ATTACK ON FOES

Policy of Passive Silence To Be Discarded for Spirited Defense

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The policy of passive silence and non-resistance in the face of Democratic attacks on cabinet officers and the administration generally, which the administration has observed since the "scandal era" in Washington began several months ago, was tossed into the discard today. It was decided at the White House that henceforth spirited defense will be made in the Senate to any and all attacks made against government officials.

The main features of the administration's program of "fighting back" were agreed upon today at an hour's conference between President Coolidge, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, latest cabinet officer to be assailed, and Senator James E. Watson, Republican of Indiana, who will act as chief spokesman in the Senate for the administration.

PHYSICIAN'S WIDOW AND SLAYER MEET FACE TO FACE AT INVESTIGATION

Detectives Conduct Inquiry Into Strange Story Told by Middle-Aged Woman Who Shot Man and Put Body in Trunk

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Undergoing a terrific grilling at the hands of District Attorney Asa Keyes while re-enacting in her apartment the scenes of the murder by herself of Dr. Benjamin Baldwin, Mrs. Margaret Willis, confessed slayer, broke down under the nervous strain this afternoon and for a few minutes halted the progress of the investigation.

In their investigation of the tragedy today the authorities were proceeding along two lines. One was an effort to uncover sufficient evidence to prove that a love affair lies back of the tragedy. The other was a check on Mrs. Willis' story that she shot in self-defense.

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—While police today set aside as "improbable and illogical" the story told by Mrs. Margaret B. Willis, middle aged business woman, that she shot and killed Dr. Benjamin Baldwin in self defense, a dramatic incident occurred when the confessed slayer was brought face to face with the widow of the dead physician.

As the detectives turned to a theory that a love affair might have been the motive for the murder, Mrs. Willis was conducted from her cell in the city room of the detective bureau where the young and pretty Mrs. Baldwin had been telling officers what she knew of incidents leading up to the shooting.

Behind Closed Doors What transpired when the two women met was not learned for the meeting was behind closed doors. But through the transom came filtering the accusing voice of the widow, telling of an important incident that is being checked on in the investigation.

"I stood in the room and heard my husband talking to her on the telephone on Friday," the voice said, "and he told me it was Mrs. Willis. I—," but here the woman's voice subsided and the tones became more normal.

A few minutes after the dramatic meeting, the police made preparations to take Mrs. Baldwin and Mrs. Willis to the "murder apartment," Mrs. Willis' home in West Eleventh street, in an effort to turn up new clues.

Coincident with the meeting of the two women in the case, other developments were taking place and the investigation was proceeding so rapidly that Chief of Detectives Home announced: "This case will be solved and closed in quick order."

Deeply In Love Another check was being made by detectives today on the details of Mrs. Willis' story that she shot Dr. Baldwin in self defense when he attempted to attack her in her home last Friday, that she "craved" the body into a trunk, and with the assistance of Bert Webster hurled the trunk down a canyon near San Fernando.

Home intimates that a complaint charging murder might be filed against Webster, who, the police believe, was deeply in love with Mrs. Willis. He announced, however, that he would leave the announcement of such action to the district attorney's office.

Physician's Career In their check today of the startling confession of Mrs. Willis that she murdered "Dr. Baldwin," placed the body in a trunk and

Church Wedding

A very pretty wedding was solemnized last Saturday night, April 12, 1924, at the First Methodist Episcopal church when Miss Bessie Ross, daughter of Wesley F. Ross of 264 Sinclair avenue, and Loren Schlotzhauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Schlotzhauer of North Verdugo road, were united in marriage by the Rev. B. D. Rasmus, Jr., assistant pastor of the Glendale First M. E. church.

The church was artistically decorated for the occasion with white and pink flowers and greenery. The ceremony was performed under a large floral arch from which was suspended a pink and white wedding bell. A little to one side two smaller floral arches marked the aisles down which the bridal party made their entrance.

Birthday Surprise

Mrs. Sarah Ward of 451 Hawthorne street, one of Glendale's "youngest old people," celebrated her 80th birthday anniversary last week when her daughters, Mrs. Edith Crocker and Mrs. Gertrude Ward of Oakland arrived here last Tuesday to make her a surprise visit. During their stay here they planned several affairs in her honor.

They visited Mrs. Ward's son, Arthur Ward of Hollywood, during the first of the week, when a theatre party at the Hollywood Egyptian theatre was given in her honor.

Later in the week they visited another daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Eskey of Los Angeles, who accompanied them to San Diego, where they spent a few days. They made the trip via automobile and en route home visited several points of interest at Riverside and vicinity.

Last Saturday Mrs. Crocker and Mrs. Rand returned to their homes in Oakland.

Dinner Dance

One of the pleasurable social events of the week was the dinner dance given Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Owen C. Emery of 610 Myrtle street, at the Oakmont Country club.

Covers were laid for thirty-one. The table decorations, favors and other appointments were artistically carried out in the Easter colors and motifs.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Menk, Harry Webb, Mrs. Helen Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rae, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Andresen, George Karr, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hyde, Mr. and Mrs. William A. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour G. Smith, Mrs. Charlotte Busby, Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Gartley, Mrs. Bowerbird, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Babson, and the host and hostess.

Presents Recital

Mrs. Bertha Smart Iredale, talented vocalist and dramatic reader, presented a recital of vocal numbers, piano songs and readings, Saturday night, at the home of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Smart, at 110 Olive street.

Sharing honors with her was Mrs. Gretchen Willson of North Kenwood street, talented accompanist.

During the evening Mrs. Iredale presented her pupil, Miss La Lond Latimer, who gave a reading, "The Mother's Lost Purse."

Wed Saturday

Miss Nola Ida Price of Etiwanda became the bride of Oscar Ray Nighswonger of 536 North Maryland avenue, Saturday night, April 12, 1924 at the home of Rev. Clifford A. Cole at 132 South Kenwood street. They were unattended.

Both of the young people came to California recently from Colorado Springs, Colo. They came to make their home at 636 Orange Grove avenue.

Informal Affair

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gifford Wheelon, assisted by Mr. Wheelon's mother, Mrs. Otis Earl Young, entertained a jolly party of young people at their home, 453 West Ivy street, Saturday night with a progressive party. Cherokee roses, frezias and hand-wrought hangings from the East Indies formed the decorations. Card games were played until 11 o'clock, when the guests progressed to Mrs. Young's home next door for a dainty luncheon. The guests then grouped themselves about the open fire and told ghost stories until the cocks began to crow in the early morning hours.

The friends who enjoyed the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Grist, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hanman, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Evans, Mrs. Esther Pierce and George Grist.

Betrothal Party

Coming as a pleasurable surprise to a coterie of friends was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lois Percy to Deane Swindell, made at a delightful informal social affair given Saturday afternoon at the beautiful ranch home of Miss Percy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Percy of Sunland.

A yellow and white color scheme was artistically carried out in the decorative scheme.

The afternoon was devoted to playing a game, "Wearing Apparel for a Well-Dressed Woman," for which Miss Wauinita Claycomb was awarded the prize. Miss Gladys Flagg was awarded the prize for writing the best display advertisement.

An engagement secret was cleverly disclosed in Miss Flagg's prize which was a decorated paper Easter egg containing a paper with this inscription written on it, read aloud by Miss Flagg, "Miss Lois Percy and Deane Swindell to be married in June. Present company advised."

An impromptu musical program was enjoyed which included vocal selections by Misses Wauinita Claycomb, Marie Oliver and Gladys Flagg.

Late in the afternoon refreshments were served. Favors consisting of bright-colored eggs filled with tiny candy Easter eggs with a tiny white chicken guarding them were given to each guest.

Miss Percy was assisted by her mother and sister, Mrs. S. D. Percy and Miss Leone Percy. The guests included the Misses Claycomb, Nina Hesselhoff, Gladys Flagg, Marie Oliver, Lucille Anderson, Marjorie Powers, Helen Woods, Eleanor Perkins, Nyda Dana, Ruth Spafford, Ethel Thomas and Mesdames Alice Murphy, Anna Percy, of Glendale, and Misses Margaret Crosland, Gladys Shelly and Viola Shelly of Los Angeles, Buelah Warren and Alice Rose of Eagle Rock, Gladys Keller of Montrose, Mrs. Roberta Thomson of Sunland, and Mrs. Swindell of Glendale.

Both Miss Percy and Mr. Swindell are well known in Glendale each taking an active part in the church and young people's work at the First Methodist church. Miss Percy is president of the Philathea class and Mrs. Swindell president of the Epworth league.

Boys and Girls Stage Real Marathon Races

The two marathon races that were staged at Burton Heights yesterday by Twining & Myers, 108 West Broadway, the agents for the tract, resulted in some of the most exciting running on the part of both boys and girls that has ever been seen, and by Virgil Beck, 2130 Marathon street, Los Angeles, with only a stride separating the three of them.

The girls' race went to Alene Menhard of La Crescenta, with Ella Burchner, 313 West Lomita street, a close second.

The boys' race went to Joseph Burris, 629 Pioneer drive, who won the wrist watch. He was followed home by Robert Perry, 212 East Palmer street, and by Virgil Beck, 2130 Marathon street, Los Angeles, with only a stride separating the three of them.

THREE-DAY SALE MARKS BIRTHDAY OF LOCAL STORE

Robinson's Men's Shop Has Thriving Business Based On Broad Policy

To celebrate the close of their first year's successful business in the new location and the third in Glendale, Robinson's Men's Shop of 114 South Brand boulevard announces a three-day anniversary event, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, April 15, 16 and 17, characterized by a complete reprising of men's and boys' wear throughout the store. "This event will be as much to show our appreciation of the past year's loyalty from our friends and patrons as to mark our first anniversary at the present location," says J. A. Robinson, co-proprietor with his brother, Oscar A. Robinson of Sawtelle. "By the co-operation of the wholesalers, we will be able to offer very attractive prices on new merchandise in every department.

Build Up Friendship
 "We find at the conclusion of our first year in the new store that the volume of business we have enjoyed has exceeded our expectations greatly, not only in the actual amount of business transacted but in the number of friends and patrons we have won among Glendale people. This latter I hold to be a greater asset than all our sales.

"My brother and I have always held that there is more to business than dollars and cents. We have held that to build a business on enduring foundations it is necessary to offer not only right merchandise at right prices but consistent 100 per cent service, which means courtesy, efficiency and satisfaction.

"Robinson's Men's Shop dwells particularly on purveying satisfaction. Every customer must be thoroughly satisfied before we permit the completion of a sale. We are not building for today and tomorrow only but for next week and next year.

"We have found doing business in Glendale different from any place in which we ever before engaged in the mercantile line, in nearly twenty years of experience. It is a difference in loyalty, a feeling we get in this city that the buying public is staunchly on the side of the merchant who gives consistently fair treatment. It makes doing business in Glendale a pleasure."

Plan Expansion
 J. A. Robinson outlines the extensive developments made by his store during the past year, stating that the stocks have been practically doubled in every department, while broad-gauge plans are being laid for the remainder of 1924, particularly the addition of new modern fixtures to better serve the increased patronage.

As a specific example of the policy of expansion now under way at Robinson's Men's Shop, Mr. Robinson states that a special window-trimmer has been engaged to care for the windows, "the eyes of a store," and the interior decorations that enable patrons to see at a glance, attractively displayed, many of the lines of goods carried.

Oscar A. Robinson of Sawtelle joins with his brother in expressing his appreciation of the splendid patronage enjoyed by the store during its first year in the new location at 114 South Brand boulevard. He has been unable to keep in as close touch with the Glendale store as he would have desired, he states, owing to the fact that in September of 1923 he

Pays Tribute to Drawing Power of The Evening News

High tribute to The Glendale Evening News as an advertising medium of unquestioned supremacy in the local field is paid by J. A. Robinson, proprietor of Robinson's Men's shop at 114 South Brand boulevard. "We attribute in no small measure to The Glendale Evening News our gratifying success during our first year in the present location," he says. "During that year, now closed, we used this paper exclusively as a daily advertising medium and the results have been highly successful."

BABY FILM STAR SEEN IN PREVIEW

Hazel Keener Delights Fans
In Comedy Drama Shown
On Local Screen

Hazel Keener, Wampas baby star of 1924, made her bow to the public last night at a Glendale theater preview, in "The Dangerous Comedy," a six-part western comedy-drama produced by H. J. Brown, with Albert Rogell directing.

The picture proved entertaining throughout, which is all one can demand of a western comedy-drama. But for liberal measure, director, producer, and star combined to show Glendallians something more than just "another western," with the result that "The Dangerous Comedy" will no doubt make a hit out in the wide, wide world.

On the same program, in addition to Baby Peggy in "The Darling of New York," which opened at the Glendale theater last night, was a specially revised two-reel feature with Rudolph Valentino and Carmel Myers, "A Society Sensation," the picture that instantly projected Valentino into world fame.

Baby Peggy and Rudolph Valentino will continue to share honors at the Glendale theater until Wednesday.

Farm Land Conference And Meets Postponed

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate Association, on his return from Sacramento this morning announced that all conferences on farm lands and Colorado River projects have been postponed on account of the foot and mouth epidemic. Mr. Willaman was among others in a delegation of fifty getting Governor Richardson to agree to a $2,000,000 deficiency appropriation.

PUBLIC OPINION SWINGS OVER IN ROOSTER'S FAVOR

Champions of Chanticleer
Take Up Cudgels for That Maligned

Either the concensus of opinion favors continuance, of the rooster's manly salute to the dawn in Glendale, or else it was "just luck" that all the letters reaching the Rooster Editor of The Glendale Evening News today frowned on those who would banish the familiar cock-a-doodle-doo from "the fastest growing city in America."

By far the most sophisticated and ironical contribution to reach the editor to date comes from John Sturges of 508 Cypress street, who disdains a pseudonym and prefaces his remarks with the following: "Mr. Editor: I hardly expect you to print the following, as some of it may be contrary to your paper's policy. However, some editors are broadminded enough to be above opposition."

Here's The Very Note
 We are happy to tell Mr. Sturges that we are such an editor, and print his letter below, for the delectation of all who enjoy irony:

"April 14, 1924.
 "To the Rooster Editor,
 "The Glendale Evening News.
 "Metropolitan enlightened Glendallians unquestionably display their enlightenment in using the metropolitanization of Glendale by insisting on the banishment of roosters.

But why stop at roosters? In my part of town, every morning around 5 a. m., shortly before the Tropic whistle commences its five-minute-long cheerful siren call to all good industrialists and boosters for Greater Glendale, a gang of wild quail makes the air hideous with their chirruping. And on the telegraph pole opposite, some conscienceless woodpecker makes noise which would be distracting except for its cheerful reminder of saw mills and boiler shops. Furthermore a nearby Honeysuckle vine, which we have not had time yet to cut down, attracts a host of humming bees whose discordant note drowns out the song of the unmuffled motorcycles on Glendale avenue.

Rowdy Humming Birds
 But the worst is yet to be told. Right under our window is a Gold of Ophir rose (the bed is to be concreted over soon) from which issues an everlasting hum from immigrant humming birds. Old shoes (we have no new ones) fail to scare these miscreants away.

What Glendale booster can sleep under these conditions? How can we plan advertisements to lure the discontented and impoverished from the benighted indolence of a satisfied city and East by fancy tales of Utopia and organize a Welcome Committee of Realtors to meet them, when they arrive with carpet bag and spotted bundle? In fairness should we not tell them how Glendale Fairland is infested with animal life, wild animals, mind you.

Once I lived in a 7-room apartment on one of the best avenues in Boston's aristocratic suburb, Brookline. There was a double roadway, with bridle path and double line of car tracks set in carefully kept lawn between the two roadways, and the first morning in the country! Banished were the howls and the crashes, and the shrieks and the roars, the yells and the hoots and the honks and blather-skits!

Country Noises
 But the silence was not quite complete. God's own Creation was voiced by the distant lowing of cattle "winding slowly o'er the lea," the cooing of turtle doves and the call of His Majesty, The Rooster, emulating his prototype in the ancient story, told to all of us in our dawning days, who "waked the priest all shaven and shaven." It does not transpire whether the priest swore, like his modern brethren and sistren, or whether he had as little preception of the beauties of nature.

Some metropolitan correspondent suggested keeping hens but tabooring roosters, but did not explain his new discovery whereby this could be done. Possibly he planned to raise the chicks from Easter eggs, or possibly he is trying to solve the old saw about the first hen and the first egg. I know a boy who has two young pigeons. In their nest are two little eggs. The mother and father take turns attending these eggs in a manner to shame many humans. Between whiles each takes turn at getting a little exercise, exhibiting the beautiful powers of flight with which the

RELATES HISTORY OF PALM SUNDAY

Significance of Day Is Told
By Rev. J. C. Livingston
In His Sermon

"The Impenitent City" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. J. C. Livingston, pastor of Casa Verdugo church, at the morning service for Palm Sunday.

The sermon was based on a portion of the scripture that presents the striking contrast of the indolence of a satisfied city and Passion Sunday, the story of Palm Sunday of that first Passion Week, as told in the book of St. Luke, when Christ entered Jerusalem over the road from Jericho and wept over the city.

"What Palm Sunday must mean to the Christian church," Mr. Livingston said. "If we would know the full significance of the coming of our Lord we must get back of the secret of those tears."

Special Music
 "We know not the origin of the city that has stood through all the ages, the city whose name means Thou Shalt Have Peace, but we do know that from that day to this there has never been one thing to give dignity, grandeur, hope or expectation to the city that did not know—would not know—the time of the visitation. It was left in desolation. When Christ wept and cried 'O Jerusalem,' it was the answering cry of what he could see in the city."

Special music numbers were an anthem, "Jerusalem" (Parker), by the choir, and soprano solo, "The Palms" (Faure), by Mrs. Robert D. Jones. "The Victorious Life" was the subject of the sermon by the pastor at the evening service.

WAR BRIDES OF 'EARLY SIXTIES' GUESTS OF CLUB

Two Former Co-eds at Ohio
College Are Honored
At Meeting

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Real human interest featured the luncheon meeting Saturday of the Glendale College Women's club at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, for among the ninety college and university women present there were two co-eds and war brides of sixty-three years ago.

Representing the preceding generation of college women, these two specially honored guests received a most gracious greeting from the club members and guests.

These two women, residents of Glendale, who attended Oberlin college in Ohio in 1861, are Mrs. Caroline Frances Wilcox of 435 West Vine street, 86 years old, and beloved mother of The Glendale Evening News Sunset club, and Mrs. Juliana Hayes of 1214 South Maryland avenue, prominent in G. A. R. and W. R. C. activities.

Both Born in Ohio
 Both were born in Ohio and when young women entered Oberlin. Mrs. Wilcox was forced to go home in 1861, when the Civil War broke out. Mrs. Hayes had the interesting experience of living in Oberlin for twenty years and taking academic and college work at the college. In 1861 she was married to one of the college boys who was sent away to war as a member of the historical Oberlin company.

In 1865 Mrs. Wilcox also married an Ohio boy, who had just returned from the war.

The club meeting on Saturday was one of the most interesting the club has had. Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, chairman of the foreign relief committee of Southern California, for the benefit of Russian refugee students in Europe, was honored guest and speaker.

Two other special guests were Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, and Mrs. C. W. Houston, second vice-president of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mrs. Ferguson Presided
 During the luncheon hour Mrs. A. L. Ferguson, club president, presided over the consideration of business and making of announcements.

The club women were glad to hear Mrs. Charles A. Barker speak in favor of the proposed $47,000 bond issue for increasing Glendale's library facilities, and the unanimous expression was that the college women will support this project.

With but two more club meetings remaining for the year the annual election is being anticipated and on Saturday, in compliance with the by-laws Mrs. Ferguson appointed the following election board: Mrs. Charles A. Barker, chairman; Mesdames C. M. Calderwood, F. S. Balthis, Alma J. Danford and Miss Clara Lauderdale.

Reports on Budget
 Mrs. Frank Parr, chairman of the budget committee, presented a most comprehensive report of a budget as outlined by her committee. She had outlined the proposed budget on a blackboard and her figures and explanations were most clear and approved by the club. The budget as proposed called for a total of $429.50, which would raise the entrance fee to $5 and the annual dues to $3.50. Final vote on this budget will be taken at the meeting in May, which will be a business meeting.

Mrs. D. F. Reichard, chairman of program, announced the May business meeting, and also briefly outlined plans for a play day for June, when the club members will enjoy a picnic featured by a stunt program.

The college women were happy

Russia and Rumania Negotiations Halted

COPENHAGEN, April 14.—A state of emergency has been proclaimed in Bessarabia, following the breakdown of negotiations between Russians and Rumanians at Vienna, according to advices from Kishinev, Saturday. Public meetings have been prohibited. The tension between Russia and Rumania is very high.

Bessarabia is a Russian province bordering Rumania, which was seized by the Rumanians after the war. Russia has demanded its return. There have been threats of war over this controversy several times in the past few years.

PLANT MEMORIAL TREE FOR CITY'S FIRST WAR HERO

Impressive Ceremonies Mark
Solamn Tribute Paid
To Lester Myers

Featured by the stirring and inspirational address of Eugene J. Wix, representing the American Legion, a memorial tree for Lester Myers, first Glendale boy to fall in action in France during the World war, was planted on the Broadway high school grounds Saturday afternoon by the Lester Myers (Glendale) chapter of the American War Mothers. Representatives from many organizations were present, and listened to an appropriate program.

The exercises were in charge of Mrs. J. B. Sherwood, who introduced the various speakers and singers. After the invocation by Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Presbyterian church, Mrs. Ralph Penland, representing the War Mothers, sang a solo. Mr. Wix recalled to mind the noble character of the Glendale boy, who had made the supreme sacrifice at the call of his country, and extolled the virtues of the mothers of the soldiers.

Brief Addresses
 Mrs. G. L. Kaeding of the American Legion Auxiliary, Capt. W. H. Reeves of the Spanish-American War Veterans and James F. McBryde for the Elks, made short addresses. Mrs. Har-dyssel represented the Women's Relief Corps and Rev. C. H. Norton spoke for the G. A. R. Miss Marian Hill was present and dedicated for the Spanish-American War Veterans' Auxiliary, and Miss Ruth Jarret represented the high school. C. R. Locke rendered "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" on the cornet, and sounded "Taps" at the conclusion of the exercises.

Lieut. George Sherwood of Glendale, reserve air officer, circled the school grounds in a plane from Clover Field, Santa Monica, and dropped flowers on the symbolic resting place of his brother officer.

The memorial tree, a California oak, was unveiled by George L. Kaeding and W. H. Reeves of the American Legion. It stands on the Verdugo road side of the high school grounds.

Lester Myers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Myers, formerly of Glendale, but now of Santa Monica. They were present at the ceremony, and were visibly touched by the tribute paid to the memory of their son.

High School Student Wins Oratory Contest

PASADENA, April 14.—John Harlan Dawson, Pasadena high school student, was returned winner Friday night in the city elimination finals of a nationwide oratorical contest. He talked his way to victory over five other Pasadena contestants. As a result he will compete against winners of contests in Hollywood, Alhambra, Pomona and South Pasadena, to determine the district championship.

Even that faithful bird, the stork, has deserted the old Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital building on East Broadway. BRINGS MESSAGE ON NEW THOUGHT

Noted Mystic Urges Members To Render Aid to Men Here on Earth

Prof. Albert Van Der Nallen, who was to have addressed the New Thought Center Sunday morning at the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium, was unexpectedly called to his home in Oakland.

Prof. Van Der Nallen, a native of Belgium, now in his ninety-fifth year, was recently decorated by King Albert of Belgium for his international pre-eminence in constructive engineering. According to Mr. Hughes, Prof. Van Der Nallen is in constant communication with those mystic masters, the Great White Brotherhood of the Himalaya Mountains.

Prof. Van Der Nallen's message to the Glendale center, through Mr. Hughes, was in Biblical language, to render unto God the things that are God's. He who climbed the Mount of Transfiguration should remember to come down again and render to men the aid which he had received through the illumination of his spiritual vision.

Capt. Max Wardell, formerly a practicing attorney and acting mayor of Seattle, now a resident of Pasadena, will address the New Thought Center next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

COMMENT That's All

Amazing Murder Confession New Home of The News Advertising Will Do It More Tunnels, Viaducts

By Gil A. Cowan

Fact often is stranger than fiction. Over the week-end a woman in the real estate business in Los Angeles confessed to one of the most amazing murders of record. She shot and killed a doctor in her apartment, packed his body in a trunk, and with the assistance of her son and a friend removed the trunk from her home and tossed it over an embankment near San Fernando.

That, in brief, is the story, but there is a matter of comment to be made, or rather a question asked: When will the women stop killing men? This idea of shooting someone is very indiscreet. Indeed, it is the height of indiscretion. It usually starts from some romantic incident and results in death and drear years behind prison walls.

It so happens that the woman in the case is a widow. She avers she was fighting for her honor. Practically all such cases revolve around that term, yet it appears that she, as well as all others involved in similar murders, have men friends, one or more husbands—and still they fight for their honor.

Many are the complimentary remarks made regarding the new building of The Glendale Evening News—an imposing structure which will soon be completed. Yet it is only a reflection of the type of newspaper, the patronage of the people, the confidence of the community.

The Glendale Evening News is an institution which has grown with Glendale. It has a record of achievement in a few short years which speaks of progress and enterprise.

And with your co-operation it will continue its course. Glendale has reached a size where it may well afford to advertise. With more than 50,000 population this city needs to keep its place in the sun by bringing new people here to live. Advertising will do it.

But in advertising, like everything else, an accurate record should be kept of all inquiries and these should be followed up. Also, some of the principal clubs and made acquainted. This will do more to win them permanently than all of the advertising to be bought.

One of the most apparent needs to the Sunday motorist is more viaducts or tunnels, over and under the numerous steam line railroad crossings in Southern California.

In many communities two and three railroads converge and make traffic conditions almost impossible. Also, some of the principal boulevards are intersected by the lines of steel over which long freight trains slowly creep while hundreds of motors are forced to wait.

A little planning will eliminate many of these crossings, Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the Los Angeles county planning commission believes, but that is not all.

Local communities should take upon themselves the problem of making their highways safe to motor traffic which now is greater than that using the railroads. It should be given first consideration.

A. W. Carson Reported Missing From Home

Relatives and friends of A. W. Carson, 1326 Glenwood road, have asked the local police to assist in a search for him. Carson left Glendale Saturday morning in his working clothes, with a $10 check in his pocket, bound for Los Angeles. He has not been heard from since. They are worried over his disappearance. The Glendale officers asked the co-operation of the Los Angeles police force in the hunt.

PLANT WILL AID IN TESTING MILK

Laboratory Established by Valley Distributors to Get Bacteria

There has been established in the Victory building on San Fernando boulevard a milk-testing laboratory under direction of the Milk Distributor's association of San Fernando valley in charge of W. J. Higgins, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Mrs. Olga DeHaven, a prominent bacteriologist, will search all milk rigorously under the microscope, to see that no untoward microbes get to frolicking around therein. At least four tests will be made. It is announced, the first just after the milk leaves the cow, then upon arrival at the creamery, in the creamery and again on the retail truck which delivers to the individual. These samples will be taken at unannounced times. Checks will be made on the time consumed by the drivers between dairies and creameries, this being done by getting the temperatures, and by the several tests, if any trouble arises, it will be possible to exactly locate its origin, while a great advantage to the milk producers will be in that, if accusations are made which are unjust, the injustice may be quickly and scientifically shown.

Permit $20,000
A permit has been taken out by J. A. Pease in the sum of $20,000 for construction of a business block at the southeast corner of San Fernando boulevard and Tujaunga avenue. The building will extend from the corner to the theatre building and will contain six store rooms.

It is sometimes a good idea to jump from an automobile when accident is imminent, and sometimes it is not. Robert Burton of Los Angeles unquestionably saved his life the other day in Burbank, when he leaped from his truck just the instant before it was struck by a Southern Pacific train, at the Verdugo crossing.

Others have been known to almost literally jump "out of the frying-pan into the fire," as in the case of "Tex" Wilson, who a week ago Sunday leaped to death from his flying car at Ascot park, Los Angeles.

Miller Fined $500
F. Curt Miller, city engineer of Burbank, who pleaded guilty to possession of intoxicating liquor and was fined $500 by Justice Hamby of Los Angeles, following his arrest on a "Bright Act" charge last Friday by Investigator Contreras and two other members of the county prohibition squad, is understood to be slated for investigation by the grand jury.

Mr. Miller said he obtained the liquor from the Burbank police court, on order of A. A. Crawford, city recorder and police judge. This Judge Crawford denied, stating he had never had any liquor delivered to Mr. Miller to take home, and adding that there is a standing order for all contraband liquor sold within the Burbank city limits to be destroyed.

According to Contreras, City Engineer Miller had the liquor in his garage, ten gallons in one container and three gallons in other containers. Miller said he used the liquor to soak the pipes used in cutting water pipe. He had no idea such use of the beverage was unlawful, he said.

The grand jury will be asked by District Attorney Keyes to investigate other Burbank matters which have come to his attention, it is understood.

MINISTER TELLS OF LOVE'S POWER

Three New Classes Formed At Broadway Methodist Sunday School

Yesterday proved to be a red-letter day for the Broadway Methodist church. Attendance at the Sunday school was the largest for several months; three new classes were organized—one a young married people's class, and two in the beginners' department.

At the morning service Rev. R. P. Howell of Pomona occupied the pulpit, preaching on "Love." Quoting 1st Cor. 13:13, "And now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love." He said in part:

"In the flux of life and sorrowing I thank God there are a few things that abide. Different from most things, faith, hope and love will abide forever. Changes in the material things of life are usually accompanied by sadness and disappointments. But not so with faith, hope and love, for these will abide in the heart forever, and the changing scenes of time cannot effect them.

Saved By Faith
"It is by faith we are saved; by faith we walk; by faith we live and by faith we die, for that same faith that sustains and comforts us while we live will surely sustain us in death.

"Hope is the next virtue. There is a vast difference between the Christian's hope and the hope of the worldly. Hope anchors our souls to the cross, and the anchor holds, regardless of the terrific beating of the waves.

"Our next virtue is love—the greatest of all. John tells us that God is love, so Paul must be right when he says that love is greatest. Where love fails all has failed; when love fails to bring a way-

EASTER SERVICES AT NOTED CROSS

Early Morn Gathering on Top of Mt. McGroarty Is Arranged

Easter sunrise services at the Cross of San Ysidro on Mt. McGroarty in the Verdugo hills are expected to attract a throng of worshippers this year that will rival the famous Mt. Rubidoux pilgrimage. This will be the second annual service held there and plans for a fitting observance of the greatest day in the Christian calendar have been made under the auspices of the Tujunga Kiwanis club.

Churches of the neighboring communities will unite in a devotional program. As the sun rises over the hills and casts the first rays of light, trumpeters stationed along the skyline road will sound a salute. As the notes of the trumpets cease the choir of the Tujunga Community church will sing an Easter anthem. Following will be scripture readings and singing by the audience assembled.

The Cross of San Ysidro stands at the peak of Mt. McGroarty, which rises above the home of California's playwright-historian, and will be illuminated the night previous to Easter by flood lights placed at the base. An effort is being made whereby the great concrete cross, which stands nearly twenty feet high, will be lighted every night or at least illuminated at will by a control switch located in Mr. McGroarty's home at the foot of the mountain.

Poet May Attend
Services held there last year, when the cross was dedicated by Father Tonello of the Tujunga

EAGLE ROCK

CANCEL SERVICES ON EASTER MORN

State Health Department Requests No Gathering Unless Necessary

Eagle Rock will have no sunrise services on Easter Sunday, all plans having been canceled on receipt of an urgent request from the state health department stressing the inadvisability of such a gathering, from a quarantine standpoint.

Donnell G. Montgomery, secretary of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the program committee, voiced the sentiments of the committee as a whole when he stated, "Although we do not believe that there is any imminent danger in holding such a meeting, yet it is our desire to do everything in our power to aid the committee in enforcing the quarantine regulations."

The program which was well under way promised to be the best in the history of Eagle Rock. A community choir was being trained by Earl Houk, noted baritone and vocal instructor, and several special solo numbers were being planned. The Isabel Chandler orchestra had been engaged and community singing of Easter songs had been included among the most impressive numbers.

The plan to erect a cross on the rock and keep it lighted during the Easter week will probably be carried out. The Edison company had already made arrangements for the lighting of the cross.

Lieutenant E. W. Welby of the Eagle Rock fire department is determined to prevent fires in this community as well as extinguish them when they crop out. He states that within the next few days an inspection will be held here under supervision of Chief Scott of the Los Angeles department.

Eagle Rock business men are called upon to co-operate in reducing the fire peril, particularly in regard to the removal of rubbish and clutter from alleys, vaults and other germinating places of filth and danger spots for fire.

Four Stage Lines In Plea for Certificate
LOS ANGELES, April 14.—Four hearings by Examiner W. R. Williams of the State Railroad Commission are scheduled for El Centro today. One hearing the certificate of the Inter-State stages between San Diego and Arizona, another the United States Inc., to extend stage service between El Centro and Arizona and the Arizona Storage and Distributing company certificate for passengers and baggage service between Arizona and Texas. The various lines are seeking the one certificate for the right of transporting passengers and freight between El Centro and the Arizona border.

No accurate method of "assaying" asbestos ore has ever been discovered, due to the fact that no matter how carefully a piece of rock is broken in order to release the ore, some of the fibers are damaged.

Catholic chapel and the hilltop christened in honor of John Stephen McGroarty, attracted many hundred worshippers in spite of the unfavorable weather conditions prevailing at the time. The choir of the Tujunga Community and a quartet of Mission Players sang anthems and Mr. McGroarty made a brief address to those assembled. Mr. McGroarty is expected to attend the services this year.

The naming of the hilltop was sponsored by "The Millionaires of Happiness and Contentment" club which is formed by the characters of McGroarty's stories, who are real people and neighbors of the playwright. Among them are Socates, the Postmaster, The Man Who Plays The Flute and others and they believe in honoring the worthy while still living, to enjoy the tribute instead of waiting until death has come to cloud the happiness. It was for this reason that they named the hilltop in his honor.

At the Tujunga Community church the Sunday school will have a special program in the morning at 9:45. Communion and reception to members will be held at the regular morning services. In the evening the choir will give a special musical program.

Glendale Business On a High Plane

No material assets of any city can take the place of, nor approximate the value of community pride and loyalty on the part of the citizens.

It's the people who make up the city and if they are not proud of that of which they are a part, they cannot expect others to like and admire it. On the other hand if they are proud of the community and loyal to it, they will draw other people just as surely as flowers attract the bees.

The Glendale buyer who goes outside the home city to spend his money is neither proud of his community nor loyal to it. He is saying, virtually, to any who wish to hear, "Glendale stores are no good. I can do better in other cities. I don't get my money's worth in Glendale."

Of course, if this is true the shopper is not to be blamed for going out of town. But has he convinced himself that it is true? Some people go out of town to trade from force of habit. They have lived in small communities where the shopping facilities were poor and they go, as a matter of course, to a larger city.

Glendale men and women whose names appear on this page are engaged in a campaign to educate these out of town shoppers to the importance of buying in Glendale; to show them that Glendale business, professions and trades are organized on a high plane. They are trying to show Glendale people that loyalty to the community demands that they at least give Glendale business men and women a chance to demonstrate their ability to give the kind of service demanded by those who are accustomed to the best.

A mere excursion around the retail centers of Glendale should be sufficient to establish the fact that Glendale business takes a back seat for no larger city. It is those who have never taken this excursion and who have never given Glendale business a chance that these advertisers are trying to reach.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE WOODPECKERS

Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane were eating lunch in the hollow stump bungalow one day when all at once, there sounded a knock at the door.

"I wonder who that can be?" whispered the muskrat lady. "It's queer they don't ring the bell."

"Maybe it's one of the animal children," said the bunny.

"Or else the Fox or Alligator trying to play a trick on us," whispered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"I'd better look out of the window before I open the door," went on Uncle Wiggily. So he looked out, but there was no one standing on the steps.

"It must have been the wind blowing a branch of the tree against our door," suggested Nurse Jane, as she went on eating her lunch.

"Perhaps," agreed the bunny, as he went on eating his lunch. But no sooner had they started on the pie than again the knocking sounded.

"It must be some one!" cried Nurse Jane.

"No, it isn't," said Uncle Wiggily, opening the door this time and seeing no one.

"Some one is teasing us," declared Nurse Jane.

"I shall hide under the steps and watch," decided the rabbit.

So Nurse Jane kept on eating her lunch as Uncle Wiggily hid himself under the front steps. All of a sudden the knocking sounded again, and looking quickly out, the rabbit saw a red-headed bird flying away.

"Hello, there!" cried the rabbit. "Was that you knocking at the door of my hollow stump bungalow to tease Nurse Jane?"

The bird flew back and perched on the railing. Uncle Wiggily saw that it was a red-headed woodpecker.

"Excuse us Mr. Longears," chattered the bird. "We did not mean to tease you—my wife and I—but we saw some worms under the bark on the side of your bungalow, and we were drilling holes with our sharp beaks to get at the worms which we eat. The drilling of our beaks on your bungalow must have sounded like some one knocking at the door."

"Indeed it did," laughed the rabbit. "But that's all right, Mr. Woodpecker. You and your wife may drill for as many worms as you can get out from the bark of my bungalow. I do not like a wormy house. I'll tell Nurse Jane about it."

The woodpecker bird and his wife flew down again and began picking away at the outside of the stump bungalow to get at the worms in the bark. And when Nurse Jane knew what it was and that it wasn't any one tapping on the door and running away to play a trick, she said it was all right.

After a while Uncle Wiggily and Nurse Jane did not mind the knocking of the woodpecker as they drilled for worms. The birds drilled little round holes in the bungalow—not holes deep enough for the rain to come in, but large enough so that the worms could be pulled out.

"I don't see how you can stand those birds knocking all day long," said Aunt Lettie, the nervous goat lady, to Nurse Jane when she called one afternoon.

"Oh, Wiggy and I are used to them," laughed the muskrat lady. "But if they keep you, Aunt Lettie, we'll go out to the movies."

So Nurse Jane and Aunt Lettie went to the pictures, and when Uncle Wiggily reached his bungalow a little later, he was all alone.

"But Nurse Jane will soon be back," said the bunny, as he sat

"Who—who is that?" whispered the Fox.

"He always raps like that! I'll nibble you another time." And out of the bungalow leaped the Fox, and away he ran as fast as he could go.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny as he looked out and saw, on the side of his bungalow, the two woodpecker birds drilling for worms. "Your knocking frightened away the Fox, my friends."

"We are very glad," said the woodpeckers. And when they had taken all the worms out of the bunny's hollow stump bungalow they flew off to the woods.

And if the evening paper doesn't come around in the morning to get a drink of molasses from the milk bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Sammie's hoop.

No Place Like Home!

That's what MRS. MAGNUS JOHNSON, wife of the senator from Minnesota, says. Pictures show her upper in her home in Washington and lower) as she appeared in her home "back on the farm." She refused to remain at the national capital.

There's no place like home. Minnesota, leaving her husband in a hotel room. "It's just until congress adjourns; he can stand it that long," she said. Her trip to Washington with her husband when he went to enter the Senate was the first time she had ever been out of Minnesota.

At Local Theatres

THE GLENDALE
Baby Peggy in her first big picture, "The Darling of New York," a Universal attraction in which she is supported by Gladys Brockwell, William J. Quinn and Betty Francisco, is offered again today at the Glendale theater. King Baggot directed.

The story reflects the experiences of a four-year-old baby girl, of Italian and American parentage. The child is introduced as the daughter of an American woman who is dying in Italy. The mother entrusted her child, requesting that the baby be taken to her grandfather in America.

The little girl falls into the hands of diamond smugglers and many exciting episodes follow. All the while, she has a little rag doll in which is concealed a fortune in smuggled diamonds.

Poems That Live

As we rush, as we rush in the Train,
The trees and the houses go wheeling back,
But the starry heavens above the plain
Come flying on our track.

All the beautiful stars of the sky,
The silver doves of the forest of Night,
Over the dull earth swarm and fly,
Companions of our flight.

We will rush ever on without fear;
Let the goal be far, the flight be fleet!
For we carry the Heavens with us, dear,
While the Earth slips from our feet!

Dinner Stories

WITH SHELL ON?
The waitress very much out of sorts sailed haughtily up to the table at which sat the grouchy customer. She slammed down the cutlery, snatched a napkin from a pile and tossed it in front of him.

"Whatcha want?" she snapped. "Couple of eggs," growled the diner.

"How ya want 'em?"

"Just like you are."

A small boy running on the pavement stubbed his toe and fell. As he was crying rather lustily, an elderly gentleman remarked, sympathetically:

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad.

By DAVID M. CHURCH For International News Service.

LONDON, April 14.—Newspapers are beginning to vie with oil and steel as commodities upon the London Stock Exchange.

During the last year there have been some very profitable dealings in newspaper shares. Fluctuations in these shares have been fairly wide and some handsome profits have been piled up for those who have been fortunate enough to be on the inside.

The death of Lord Northcliffe and operations centering around his papers have been responsible for the impetus given to trading in newspaper shares.

Lord Rothermere, who succeeded to the Northcliffe papers, is far better known as a financier than as a newspaper publisher, and perhaps it is his bent for finance which has made the purchase and sale of newspaper shares a matter for lively transactions upon the Stock Exchange.

Last autumn Lord Rothermere purchased the newspapers owned by Sir Edward Hulton for approximately $30,000,000, and immediately issued Daily Mail Trust debentures, redeemable at 110, to cover the purchase. The debentures were sold at 99. The issue was for $40,000,000 and was oversubscribed many times.

Now Lord Rothermere has sold the Manchester group and the Hulton newspapers to Sir William E. Berry and J. Gomer Berry for a price that is reported to be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000. Thus, Lord Rothermere receives about five-sixths of the money which he expended for the Hulton papers and still retains the two important London papers—the Daily Sketch and Sunday Herald—which are probably well worth $15,000,000.

The debenture issue also covered the purchase of two Scottish newspapers, so Lord Rothermere is going to be able to redeem at least half of this debenture issue and still retain nearly two-thirds of the property covered by the debentures.

The $20,000,000 worth of Daily Mail debentures which are to be redeemed will be drawn by lot and will be redeemed at 110, netting the investors whose debentures.

From Book Of Life

On the comparative merit of the ancients and the moderns in the arts, in poetry, eloquence and all that depends on the imagination, there is widely divergent opinion. In the realm of science, however, there is no doubt about it; the moderns have eminently the advantage. It could not be otherwise.

Why? William H. Prescott, in his extraordinary history of the conquest of Peru (Chapter 1, Book 2), gives an explanation: "In the early ages of the world, as in the early period of life, there was the freshness of a morning existence, when the gloss of novelty was in everything that met the eye; when the senses, not blunted by familiarity, were more keenly alive to the beautiful, and the mind, under the influence of a healthy and natural taste, was not perverted by philosophical theory; when the simple was necessarily connected with the beautiful, and the epicurean intellect, sated by repetition, had not begun to seek stimulants in the fantastic and the capricious."

"The realms of fancy were all untravelled, and its fairest flowers had not been gathered, nor its beauties despoiled, by the rude touch of those who affected to cultivate them. The wing of genius was not bound to earth by the cold, conventional rules of criticism, but was permitted to take its flight far and wide over the broad expanse of creation."

"But with science it was otherwise. No genius could suffice for the creation of facts—hardly for their detection. They were to be gathered by painful industry; to be collected from careful observation and experiment."

"Guns, indeed, might arrange and combine these facts into new you won't feel the pain tomorrow."

"Then," answered the little boy, between sobs, "I won't cry tomorrow."

"As other nations come upon the stage, and new forms of civilization arise, the monuments of art and of imagination, productions of an older time, will lie as an obstacle in the path of improvement. They cannot be built upon; they occupy the ground which the new aspirant for immortality would cover. The whole work is to be gone over again, and other forms of beauty—whether higher or lower in the scale of merit, but unlike the past—might arise to take a place by their side."

"But, in science, every stone that had been laid remains as the foundation for another. The coming generation takes up the work where the preceding one left it. There is no retrograde movement. The individual nation may recede, but science still advances. Every step that has been gained makes the ascent easier for those who come after. Every step carries the patient inquirer after truth higher and higher towards heaven, and unfolds to him, as he rises, a wider horizon, and new and more magnificent views of the universe."

A long time ago Aeschylus, the Greek, concluded, "Suffering brings experience."

Diet and Health

WHY YOU SHOULD HAVE A HEALTH EXAMINATION

Last week, in my first paper on the importance of a health examination, I told you that one of the reasons the average age at which we die is later in life than it used to be is because so many babies and children are saved from death through the baby and child health centers in the various communities.

While babies and children are being saved, it is a sad fact that there are more people dying from degenerative diseases of the heart, blood vessels and kidneys, and they are dying earlier, than before. Tuberculosis, which used to claim the highest number of deaths, is now second in the list and degenerative diseases are first.

When you read or hear of a man or woman dropping dead suddenly, who has apparently been in good health, you can know that he or she was not and had not been in good health for a long time. These degenerative diseases, in the majority of cases, do not come on suddenly. They are of slow growth and, if they are taken in their beginnings, they can be stopped.

There are symptoms which the skillful physician, by a thorough physical and mental examination, can detect early in the course of these diseases. When the practice of periodic examinations of the apparently healthy is established, many people who are suffering will be saved. Aside from the prevention of sudden deaths, there will be the prevention of much chronic suffering and unhappiness.

This examination of the apparently healthy is not an entirely new idea. I have spoken of the examination of healthy children and infants; then we have the examination of school children upon their entrance and at intervals thereafter; in many universities and colleges students are examined upon entering; many industrial organizations have workers examined when they enter their employment and some at regular intervals thereafter; and many of the insurance companies offer their policy holders physical examinations at stated times.

Now, to have a competent, thorough physical and mental examination, with the necessary laboratory work, you will have to go to an educated, scientifically trained physician and not one of these so-called doctors who are graduated from diploma mills or correspondence schools, or schools which claim there is only one cause of disease, etc. Obviously, the physician will have to charge for the examination if the patient is able to pay, just as he would charge for an examination during illness.

Now, why should you have a

Finds More Time To Play

Here's a new and unusual picture of MR. and MRS. EDESEL B. FORD, the former being a son of the man who made auto riding "easy and hard." Edsel Ford seems to find a whole lot more time in which to play than does his father, the world's richest man.

Edsel B. Ford has considerably more capacity for play than his father, Henry, the world's richest man. Whereas his father derives amusement from his experiments and collection of antiques, Edsel goes in for all sorts of sports and is an enthusiastic owner and pilot of speed boats. He now is spending the early spring season at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Edsel, the only son of the modern Midas, now is active manager of the huge interests of his father.

Heart and Home

NEW ATTRACTION
Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a young married woman of twenty-three. My husband is twenty-five years old. We have two little boys and have been married five years.

The summer before last my husband would go out without me and would go with other women. He has been going out with girls ever since. I have never seen him with any one. He and my brother went out together. I was told about it and questioned my husband about it and he confessed he was out. He remarks often about a certain girl that he has been out with. He has never offered to take me any place and when I ask him to go he gets angry. I never go anywhere. I have been over a year since I have been to a show or any place with him. We have a big machine and he goes out in it. Once in a great while he asks me to go along with him. I love him and hate to think he goes out with any one else. I am at home every day. I can't take the two boys and go anywhere because he gets angry and wants to quarrel. I would sooner stay home than have him quarrel with me.

He says he loves me. Do you think he does?
NEGLECTED WIFE.
Your husband probably loves you, but does not realize how much himself. You go too little and have been too closely confined to your home. Such life makes you lose your touch with people and you have not the interest of your husband. Find some spaghetti. A few crisply-dried slices of bacon make a pretty and tempting garnish for this dish.

DOC BLOWHEART.
The only way you can find out whether or not you can get a position in a department store is to apply for it. A great deal will depend on the appearance you make and their need for extra help during the summer months. If I were you I would talk to the employment manager at once so that your application will be entertained before the rush for such jobs. Probably the pay would be about the same for a beginner whether you worked in a department store or in a ten-cent store. Put vaseline on your fingernails at night. This will prevent their breaking so easily. For biting you may be helped by bitter aloes. The biting of fingernails is, of course, a bad habit, but it is usually caused by nervousness. If the application of aloes does not help you, I would recommend that you consult a physician so that your general health may be improved.

AN IRISH COLLEEN: Your doctor is the one to recommend a diet for your mother since she is not well. I know, however, that she should eat as little meat as possible and avoid red meat entirely. Give her plenty of milk and fresh vegetables.

Beauty Chats

By EDNA KENT FORBES

SHAMPOO HINTS

Washing one's hair at home is one of the simplest things in the world, yet I receive dozens of letters a week from readers who complain that after a home shampoo their hair is covered with a sticky white substance which comes off on the brush, that it looks dull and that it won't do up properly. The fault is either because the hair is not washed thoroughly enough, because it isn't rinsed enough or because the wrong sort of soap is used. Follow these directions and your hair at the end of the shampoo will have the beautiful gloss that everyone admires.

If the scalp is quite dry and dandruff rub it with hot olive oil or hot crude oil the night before, otherwise rub it with olive oil an hour or so before you wash it. Be sure you have plenty of hot water. If you can afford it, make yourself a present of a small hose made to fit over both faucets of the bath tub so a stream of water of the proper temperature can be sprayed over the scalp. If you can't do this, or if you haven't running water, use a small pitcher and keep dipping it into the basin and pouring the water over the scalp again and again, for it is not only the water but the force of the water that counts.

Have some castle soap, previously melted with hot water into a jelly, mix some of this with hot water, pour it over the scalp, and rub until the hair is covered with lather. An important thing to know is that you must never rub soap directly onto the hair. Rinse off the lather, repeat a second time, rinse, repeat a third time and rinse. If the hair is very dirty or very oily you can safely use the soap even four times, for castle is not drying, and the oil previously rubbed into the scalp must be dislodged.

Now you are ready for the final rinse. As the quantity of soap has thoroughly taken off the dirt and the oil the rinsing won't be hard.

H. W.—There is no such thing as a reducing cream but you can reduce portions of the body through massage.

Peggy—At your age you could wear skirts long enough so that your bare legs would not be seen. You can help this condition also if you learn to stand properly. This should not be hard for you as you have gymnasium training in your school work.

Penelope—Never use cocoa butter on your face, and there should be no need for leaving any cream on the face overnight. Give the skin all that it needs, and remove the surplus with a soft cloth.

Gertrude M.—For enlarged pores, use a drop or two of benzoin in a basin of water to rinse face after bathing.

"The clouds that are gathering over us are only momentary. Every now and then in our political life, as in our mining operations, we strike a body of low grade ore. But that does not mean that in the large of our life, public or private, is unsound," so declared Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, in a recent address in New York.

"These things come upon us when our vigilance is relaxed and we are exhausted from going good. We have just come through a period when America was superb. We have come through a period when we were greater than ever we were in our whole history and greater than any other nation in the world."

"To run a world that was rocked with ruin we brought our limitless selfishness. Then when the war was over we tired of being good. We went into a slump."

"We pulled a veil over our faces and closed our eyes to what was going on in Washington. I decline to believe that these are more than surface indications. But when we see this sort of evidence we are obliged to ask how we can get back. The 100,000,000 people in America are fundamentally sound. These things will pass."

"But we are challenged to get back to those things which made us superb. We forgot after the armistice that we lived in the world."

"We adopted a policy of political isolation. We forgot this meant moral isolation. Instead of being a loved neighbor, we became an unpleasant neighbor. We rapidly succeeded in making ourselves very unpleasant neighbors. We cannot be isolated politically without being isolated industrially and commercially.

"I challenge this isolation policy which we have been pursuing, because it is indicative of a moral slump. America cannot be happy alone. We must replace in the world what went out when Woodrow Wilson died—the things that he stood for and the things that were in the heart of America when it was at the greatest. That great moral giant stood for the heart and soul of America."

"The world is saved by courage. Though clouds hover low, though low grade ore is on top, though defeatist badges mark the life of America, these things are but momentary."

Kidney Stew: (requested by Mrs. W.). Cut two pounds of beef kidneys in small pieces, wash well, and put in a stew pan covered with boiling water; let boil for 15 minutes, then drain off the water and pour cold water over the kidneys to remove strong taste. Put back in a saucepan, cover with either soup stock or canned consommé, season with one teaspoon of salt, a dash of pepper, a few whole cloves, two large onions peeled and chopped, a little lemon rind, a very little allspice and a bit of bay leaf. Let boil till the kidneys are very tender, then thicken slightly with three tablespoons of flour rubbed to a paste in a little cold water. Serve hot.

Lemon Rind Pudding: (requested by "Constant Reader"): Put into a bowl one-half cup of granulated sugar and stir into this the beaten yolks of four eggs, the grated rind of one lemon, and one quart of milk; mix thoroughly, then add two cups of soft bread-crumbs; turn the mixture into a baking dish, and bake for 30 or 40 minutes in a quick oven. When done spread over the top a meringue made of the four egg-whites stiffly beaten and sweetened with two tablespoons of sugar and flavored with the juice of one-half lemon. Return dish to a moderate oven for a few minutes, till meringue has browned. Serve cold.

Red Kidneys Beans with Spaghetti: Soak one-half cup of dried red kidney beans overnight in water to cover well, and in the morning drain and stew in water containing a pinch of soda; when tender, serve on a platter surrounded by spaghetti which you have separately cooked as follows: Boil one cupful of spaghetti, broken small, in boiling salted water till tender, then make a sauce to add to it. Sauce for the Spaghetti: Put two tablespoons of bacon fat in a saucepan and when melted add two tablespoons of raw minced onion and let cook till the onion is softened, then stir in one tablespoon of flour, and one and one-half cups of tomato juice (from either canned, or freshly stewed tomatoes) and let bubble up a moment till thickened before turning it over the cooked

Giants Slipping, Therefore Little Chance to Get High This Year

HOW TEAMS SHOULD FINISH IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

- 1.—Pittsburgh.
- 2.—Cincinnati.
- 3.—New York.
- 4.—Chicago.
- 5.—St. Louis.
- 6.—Brooklyn.
- 7.—Boston.
- 8.—Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Truth, crashed to earth, will rise again like a yeast cake, as the fellow said.

The truth about the three champion New York Giants, who see it, is that clever manipulator, tough as he may be, John McGraw, cannot hope to jockey his ball club to another pennant in the National league race this season. We pick the Giants to finish third and may be a bit ultra optimistic, at that. The club is due to slip, and once a baseball outfit starts slipping, the end is somewhere on the Siberian steppes.

Three Club Affair

The National league campaign figures to be a three club affair involving New York, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. Of the three, we like the Pirates. They haven't got the pitching they once knew, but the club has speed and the punch and mayhap has acquired, between seasons, the ability to take the tough hitters along the road in stride. Only a complete collapse in September cost the Pirates the flag in 1921, and we have been given to understand that they are a much better outfit today.

Wright, the kid shortstop from the American association, has been just good enough to force Maranville over to the other side of second base, and if the youth comes on as he should, the Pittsburgh club will have the best infield in the league. It has plenty of hitting from Schmidt, Bigbee, Traynor, Grimm, Carey and Barnhart, and three first class pitchers in Cooper, Morrison and Meadows, with the off chance that Krenmer, the Coast league wonder, will make the raffle. It looks like the Pirates' year.

Reds Lack Punch

The Reds have the finest defensive machine in the league but the punch is not there. In addition, Darnett may experience some difficulty in getting about on his elderly legs for another season. Cincinnati doesn't look the part of a pennant winner, in spite of the impressive pitching staff of Luque, Rixey, Donohue, May, Mays and Sheehan.

They will just about wield enough influence, however, to keep the Giants running third most of the way. That is, unless the general impression that McGraw committed a faux pas in trading Bancroft out of his infield proved to be ill advised, to say nothing of a popular theory that Groh will not last the season and that Giant pitchers will be no better than they have been for three seasons.

Cardinal Track Team Beat Southland Foes

The Stanford track team scored heavily in their meet with the Alhambra Southern California Conference Commission of Athletics at Stanford Saturday, taking 87 to 44 points in a series of sensational performances. Iron Man Cliff Argue, the Occidental star, lost to Hale, the Stanford flash, who breasted the tape a yard in the lead of the Tiger sprinter.

conventional endow angels, and cooing their joyous anticipation.

But the neighbors say they are driven crazy by these beautiful manifestations of nature's Creator, and to satisfy them the boy will have to tread on the young ones and answer the mothers startled bewilderment by wringing their necks.

As between some people and roosters, give me the roosters.

JOHN STURGESS.

Bubbles Into Verse
Another pro-rooster Glendalian, B. F. Bourne of 203 East Maple street, waxes so enthusiastic in his defence of chanticleer that he bursts the bounds of prose and effervesces into verse, of which he adds in a postscript, "This may not be good poetry but it hits the spot."

The Rooster Editor of The Glendale Evening News prints the effusion below, leaving it to readers to judge both as to the poetic quality and marksmanship of the same.

IN DEFENSE OF ROOSTER
To those who mourn the Rooster's Crow

In dawn of early morn,
And would take from the frog,
his merry croak
Beside the lily padded pond,
Take music from the tom cat's yowl

Astride the high board fence,
Just listen to one who loves the sound
Of nature's Orchestra; and hence,
God made these little creatures
to live

In one big infinite plan.
The frog to sing for the lovers
In the twilight land.
The cat tunes in the darkness
When all else be still,
The Rooster to greet the rising sun.

A notice to all who live.
Say listen, my friends, that the roosters disturb.
Clear the mind and the body responds.

Go home from your work at the close of the day,
Tune-in to the universe band.
If the things you have done are right, my boy,
Or you've helped some brother
along,
Then the chorus can sing from twilight till dawn.

You'll sleep through the midst of the song.

Asks Fair Play
The last contribution to be printed at this season is from J.
Martin of Lomita avenue and is a simple, matter-of-fact statement by a man who seriously believes that people who want to keep roosters should be permitted to.

"April 14, 1924.
"Rooster Editor,
"The Glendale Evening News.

"I believe that fair play should be granted to the people that come to Glendale to make this city their home but I believe that the roosters should also have fair play.

"For my part, I just enjoy listening to the fine crow of the bird they call the rooster. When I hear their voices calling mornings I know the daylight is coming and another night is gone.

This puts me in mind of some people who do not like children.
They are so easily disturbed. To the gentleman who has spent $7000.00 American money for a home I would say that perhaps his neighbor who owns the disturbing bird has spent some American money for his home and also for the rooster. If it were not for these male birds, we would soon not have any eggs or chicken dinners.

"I believe people ought to have the privilege of keeping hens or roosters if they so desire."
"J. MARTIN."

Deputies Stirred by Shot—Only Gun Fell

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—A shot rang out at the sheriff's office.

Deputies grabbed their guns and swarmed into the halls. They left a reporter behind guarding two prisoners.

They heard a chuckle from the locker room. Johnny Dunn of the auto theft detail had dropped his shotgun.

The bullet bored a nice hole for rats to get into the lockers.

"P. S. If there are any more long haired women left in Glendale, let's hear from you!"

She's In Again
New folks, "A. M. A. W." is on the stage again and she has something good, so get this:

"April 11, 1924.
"To the Bobbed Hair Editor,
"The Glendale Evening News."

"Hello there, Everybody!"
"Wonderful weather we are having, isn't it?—I mean—"

"Alright, 'Gentlemen,' and let your whiskers grow forever, for all I care. It don't worry me the least!"

"What I am hittin' at this time, is the barber and his chair. You men seem to be having a lot of trouble about getting a shave and 'hair cut,' by sounds of things these fine days, and then of course you blame it on the women folks, and their bobbed hair—just like 'some' men of course, always blaming a woman for their troubles! Ha!—I mean—"

"I for my part, have never been into a barber shop, and never intend entering one either."

"I get my 'trimmings' done at a Beauty Shop, so come on sisters! let's all do the same trick, and let the men have their 'old style' barber shops to themselves, it's no place for a woman or a girl, anyhow."

"It's only these things they call Flappers that go to a barber shop, to have their hair bobbed or trimmed, so come on, women and girls, and he real ladies, and listen to your bobbed haired mammy 'cause if you do you'll never be sorry for it, I know."

"Just stop, and think for a moment!—Now don't you think I'm right?"

"Yes, come on bobbed haired sisters, let's all stick together, the beauty shops are more than glad to serve us, I am sure.—Of course they are!"

"Women should be women you know, and men should be men, so let's each be where we belong and also mind our own business!"

"No stringed hair to hang down my neck,—AL I. BY, and you are mistaken about there being just as much work with bobbed hair, because we have to curl it,—well,—I mean some of us that are so fortunate enough to have natural curls."

"We ladies with straight hair, had to curl our hair when it was long too, to make it look attractive, as you call it,—didn't we?"

"Yes," and then after spending some time curling it, dress it, etc., etc.

Ready Right Away

"But all we need to do now with our hair bobbed, when it's been curled, is—to pull a comb through the hair a few times, and it's done,—in less time than it takes to explain it all."

"No chance, 'AL I. BY,' you were stretching your point a lot,—when you said,—'there was an added expense for you poor married men to have to foot a barber bill at least once a week.'"

"Nothing doing, old top,—if you had said 'once a month,' you would have still been stretching it some,—I'll say!"

"It's over a month now since I had my hair trimmed last, and I am sure, or know, that I can still wait one more month, so there, don't try to tell me I'm not right either, as I know, from my own experience."

"Well,—be good dear bobbed haired sisters, and don't do anything I wouldn't do!"

"Good luck be with you all."
Yours till tea leaves,
A. M. A. W.

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—When H. W. McKenzie agreed to sell the Shaw Apartments, Anaheim, to W. P. Bressingham, he wasn't in a position to fill the contract, the latter claims in an action started today to recover $1,000 he placed in escrow. After making the first payment Bressingham says he discovered McKenzie did not have title to the property.

She chose to speak to the college women on "Interesting Women in Europe," giving an informal account of her attendance at the conference at The Hague and of her travels over Europe.

"If anything is to be done about peace in the world, the women must do it," she declared.

After personal reminiscences of royalty of Rumania, Greece, Serbia and Turkey and interesting accounts of her travels, Mrs. Rodman made a plea for assistance for the Russian refugee students, for whom she is raising $5000. At the close of her talk the club women through their president gave her $20 for her work.

LOS ANGELES, April 14.—All of the suburban cities of Southern California are related to Los Angeles and will fall in behind this city in the Greater Los Angeles movement, Belle McCord Roberts of the Long Beach Telegram told 1500 Southern California business men gathered at the Biltmore Hotel here this afternoon.

Business totalling more than $5,000,000 will be chalked up by the Moreland Truck company during 1924, G. E. Moreland of Burbank, head of the organization declared in an optimistic address on business conditions here. He explained that his company employs more than 1000 men, all of whom live in Burbank and Glendale vicinity. Most of these men are home owners, he added
